Abstract of the Disclosure

This utility bag is to be used by pharmaceutical representatives in the field. It is designed to keep all samples and literature organized and easily accessible. The unique lay out of the pockets are to keep specific items used everyday by representatives at hand for quick retrieval. The solid canvas that the bag will be made of will help protect the samples from being damaged by rain. This will also keep samples hidden that may be considered a controlled substance. The retractable handle and folding split bottom will allow for easy set up and storage.
